INTRODUCTION.

TO THE CLASS OF EIGHTY-THREE :

The report which I have the honor as your Secretary to present to you has been somewhat delayed, partly by my own illness, partly by those who, although frequently urged, have not replied to my circulars, and by those who neglected to supply promised information.

In its preparation I have followed mainly the conventional lines furnished by the complete reports of the last four years, with one distinct exception, namely, the omission of the page containing the measurements of the Class. These tables have been necessarily so imperfect and so nearly worthless as standards of comparison that I have felt justified in discarding them, notwithstanding the violation of precedent. On the other hand, I have amplified wherever the interest of the Class seemed to me directly affected. An example of this may be found in the "Class Review," which, although somewhat self-laudatory, is intended for no eyes but your own, and may, perhaps, prove a not unwelcome oasis amid the desert of general statistics.

With regard to the complete list of the Class, I have followed the Secretary of 1882 in what has seemed to me his excellent arrangement. In this report the first list of the Class, page 1, et. seq., contains, as it should, the names of those who graduated with Eighty-three, and not merely of those who were regular members during Senior year. The same method has been pursued in the statistics relating to "probable occupation," etc., the necessity of resorting to a double column, representing graduate and regular members, having been obviated by the fact that everyone regularly connected with the Senior Class received his degree.

From the part entitled "Temporary Members" you will gain some idea—although but a faint one I am afraid—of what the Triennial Reports will be. And I beg you will bear in mind how indispensable is the willing co-operation of the Class with the Secretary, if these future records are to be made of value, or even of interest to yourselves.

For whatever defects an examination of the report may disclose, I venture to claim your pardon in advance, trusting that, in any event, they will not be ascribed to lack of good intentions or earnest endeavor.

We shall entertain the Class next Commencement in Holworthy, the room to be announced hereafter. Notices will be published in the Boston Advertiser, Post and Transcript, and the more important ones in the New York Times.

With the best wishes to all for success in the future as in the past, I remain

Your sincere friend and classmate,

FREDERICK NICHOLS.

It will be seen that our Class Fund is, unhappily, a small one, although we are fortunate in receiving a balance of $505 from the Class Day Committee. In comparing our Fund with that of other classes, this amount should not be included, since we do not know how much other Secretaries have received or have paid out on the Class Day account.

The amount of subscriptions given on the opposite page does not, however, represent quite fairly the sum total of our Class Fund, inasmuch as a number of men have signified to me their intention of subscribing, although they had not yet decided upon the sum to be given. I should like therefore to urge these last, as well as all who have not paid their first instalment, to settle their account with the class through me, at their earliest convenience, and I hope that as many of you will increase your subscriptions as find it possible to do so.

The increase in the College Fund over those of former years, is extremely gratifying, as indicative of a disposition to regard the claims of the College as more nearly proportionate to those of the Class. I wish, however, to call attention to the amount of first instalments still “due and unpaid.”

CLASS LIVES.

By dint of frequent notices and personal appeals, I have succeeded in obtaining from a class of two hundred and one members fifty-one Class Lives. To write an autobiographical sketch was the only thing involving any individual effort which each member of the class was called upon to do, and I regret exceedingly that such an important part of my duty still remains unfulfilled. In no other way can facts which should be preserved in the records of the class be obtained so readily and so satisfactorily, and the value of this custom has to my own knowledge been frequently demonstrated. I will gladly send copies of the questions to those desiring them; and must then leave further responsibility with you, trusting sincerely that the three-fourths of the class who have ignored my request will assist me by repairing their omission as soon as possible.

CLASS SUPPERS.

SOPHOMORE YEAR.

The Sophomore class supper took place at Young's Hotel, Boston, on the evening of February 28, 1881. The officers of the occasion were :—

President	O. E. PERRY.
Orator	H. PUTNAM.
Poet	H. G. CHAPMAN.
Chorister	J. DORR.
Toast-Master	H. B. CABOT.

About ninety men were present. The usual toasts were given, Mr. Perry responding for the Class, Mr. Hammond for the Crew, Mr. C. P. Nichols for the Nine, and Mr. E. T. Cabot for the Eleven. Fitting responses were also made by the Captains of the various Class organizations in answer to toasts thereto. Mr. Rousmaniere spoke for the Advocate, Mr. E. P. Warren for the Crimson, and Mr. Denniston for the Echo ; while Mr. Binney and Mr. R. B. Fuller responded for the Ladies and the Cricket Team, respectively.

Mr. Chapman's poem was received with great applause and is here given :—

SOPHOMORE CLASS SUPPER POEM.

BY. H. G. C., JR.

I AM quite at a loss to know what you expected,
 My kindest of friends, when you had me elected
 Your Poet, and I say that you "had me," with reason ;
 For our President here, by a flattering treason,
 Ignored my just right of withdrawing my name,
 While you, by the way, did exactly the same ;
 So, in spite of attempts that I made to decline,
 And the subsequent efforts I made to resign.—
 In spite of all this, yea, I may say in spite
 Of myself, I am reading this poem to-night.
 Yet I frankly forgive you, for now that it's done,

For better or worse, nought remains but the fun;
 And having upbraided you thus to your faces,
 At the risk of so forfeiting all your good graces,
 I thank you sincerely for honoring thus
 One who humbly begs pardon for making a fuss.
 Yet I solemnly vow ere this doggerel shall end, or
 Some day at least, by all saints in the Calendar,
 And by all the Druidical Gods of Stonehenge,
 And the Gods of Olympus, I'll have my revenge.
 Not on you, my kind friends, whom the manner of calling
 That meeting prevented from black or white balling.
 By you I acknowledge no ink has been spilt; he Alone shall be gagged, who of balling is guilty.

'Tis the first time we've met, in a sociable way,
 Though we've been here together for many a day;
 Like the planets we've moved in our separate courses,
 But like them, all under the same set of forces.
 And if any has left us, I'm sure we've all missed him,
 As a star would be missed by the whole solar system.
 We've but one reputation, we've had but one name,
 And are subject together to praise and to blame.
 "Who did it?" 'tis asked. It is not you or me;¹
 The answer is simpler by far, '83.
 Since we're here then together, let's turn to look back,
 And review the most prominent part of our track.
 The exploit that first brought the class any fame,
 And made all the Hub-bubby papers cry shame
 (Though why it thus brought us before the world nobody knows unless 'twas that we'd been to the Globe).
 Is the night that we went to the Crook in a body
 And very good spirits, — no illusion to toddy.
 We sang to the orchestra, beat on the floor,
 Encored every song, and encored the encore.
 In fact, our behavior and manners were such
 As amused both ourselves and the house very much.
 The play being over, we marched o'er the same bridge
 By which we had come in the horse cars to Cambridge;
 And if on the way we admired the designs
 Of the poles of tonsorial artists, or signs
 Of any description, t'was done quick as thought.
 We took off the signs, but we did not get caught.
 And that is the spirit I'd have you remark
 Of the way in which '83 goes on a lark.

¹ If any object to me I can soon
 Set him right with Dean Alford and Washington Moon.

(I might say as I pass, for the matter of that,
That a lark is a much better bird than a bat.)

The next matter of moment that comes to our view
Is the football Eleven, the Nine, and the Crew;
And here I would ask your attention awhile,
To a theory I've been at great pains to compile.
'Tis an excellent theory when properly used
But one that may suffer from being abused,
And, moreover this theory alone can explain
That problem so often attempted in vain,
About whose solution the wisest men differ, hence
Commonly known here as Harvard Indifference.
This theory proclaims, I shall not tarry now
To explain just the why or the when or the how;
Ten chances to one, that a class that puts through
Both football and base ball, won't have a good crew;
That is, 'twill, I think, in most cases be found
That there's not enough energy left to go round;
There will be, say, enough for these two, and no more than'll
Keep a good stream in their definite channel.
Now the trouble is this, there are too many aims
To be taken at once in this question of games,
And the reason that sometimes we miss in the matter
Is simply because we so frequently 'scatter.'
That this is the case I've no doubt you'll acknowledge;
And what's true of the Class is as true of the College.
We've more irons in fact than our fire will hold,
So in heating up some, all the others grow cold.
We're by no means indifferent, 'tis but our plan
To try to do ten times as much as we can;
And if half of the energy used in this way
Were collected together, in about half a day
We could put this whole city right into Back Bay.
So we cannot be said to have failed in our task,
If our football and base ball wern't all one could ask,
For we had a good crew. (This I fancied you wouldn't Attempt to deny, though I said it who shouldn't.)
For we won the class races in 8's and what's more,
Such a thing I am told never happened before.
Then we vanquished Columbia, though I declare
That race was not quite such an easy affair,
And if you remark we were beaten this fall.
I answer there's really no reason at all
To expect all the honor because we have much:
We lost, we are sorry, our fortune was such.
(This had ne'er been the case, by the way, if your poet
Could have been in the boat, and have helped them to row it.)

There remains one event of importance to mention :
 To describe it I haven't the slightest intention,
 For one better versed in the rhyming profession
 Has done so before, — 'tis the Torchlight Procession.
 Yet one little incident happened that day,
 Of which all haven't heard, I dare say.
 We'd learned in the morning that some '84 men
 Had bragged a good deal and had talked about warmin'
 The Soph'mores that night, and moreover had wrought
 An enormous transparency, which as they thought
 Was exceedingly funny, on which were displayed
 Two mis'erable curs, whereof one was afraid,
 And one didn't dare, as the writer supposes,
 To seize on the bone that lay under their noses.
 (For those who've forgotten, I may as well mention
 That a hat and a cane was the bone of contention.)
 And one of these dogs, we were told furthermore,
 Was named '83, t'other dog '84.
 This was quite bad enough, yet we heard what's much worse,
 Namely something was wrong with the tails of the curs ;
 We accordingly thought we had better go there and see
 What could be done with this wretched transparency.
 We came and we saw, and like Caesar — but stay,
 I anticipate slightly, yet what shall I say —
 For there stood the dogs, and defiance to crown.
 '84's tail turned up, '83's tail turned down.
 Then we said to those men in the mildest of voice,
 "Little friends, we have come here to give you your choice :
 This business of yours you must either break up,
 Or — turn up the tail of that '83 pup."
 For a moment they seemed to be lost in surprise ;
 Then they turned up his tail, they put fire in his eyes.
 Stiffened up his back bone and remodelled his paws,
 Put in some more teeth, and a dozen new claws,
 Till what before looked like a sheep in a bog,
 Now seemed to be quite a respectable dog.
 "That will do very well," said we finally, bowing,
 "Does '83 look very much like cowering?"
 "Not much," said the rest. "Then we'll bid you good morning,
 But gentlemen, first let us venture a warning,
 Or, if you prefer it, a piece of advice ;
 For you'll hardly be likely to try the game twice ;
 Let nobody — so runs the scriptural phrase —
 Malign or speak ill of your virtuous ways ;
 Which, being interpreted, means never fail
 To pitch into a man who turns down your dog's tail."

Such our exploits have been, I have bored you thus far
With what we have done, now let's see who we are.

Revenge ad libitum

But enough, I admit it is harder to drop
Such a theme than go on, so I simply shall stop;
And with the remark that I really am sorry t'a
Kept you so long, I'll make room for the orator.

JUNIOR YEAR.

The class supper appointed for the evening of May 16, 1882, most unfortunately had to be given up, only fifty-four men having expressed their willingness to be present. The cause of the failure may be attributed to the approach of the Annuals and the loss of the Class Races.

SENIOR YEAR.

The Senior class supper was held at Young's, on the evening of June 25, 1883. One hundred and fifty-one men assembled, including several former members, and the interest thus shown by the Class made our last undergraduate supper a delightful and memorable one.

Mr. Grandgent served as toastmaster, and Mr. Brackett presided, while Mr. Earle officiated as chorister.

A remarkably pleasant incident connected with the evening was due to the kindness of a member of the Class of 1868, which was holding a reunion in an adjoining room. The cordial speech delivered by this gentleman was agreeably supplemented by three dozen of champagne "for the use of the Class of '83"—a compliment which was accepted with enthusiastic appreciation, and established at once the most friendly relations between the alumnus of fifteen years and those just upon the eve of graduation.

CLASS CRADLE.

All who received degrees with 1883 are eligible for this distinction. The presentation of the first claim will receive due consideration from the Secretary and Class Committee, and if deemed just and satisfactory, will entitle the fortunate child to the cradle and best wishes of the Class of 1883.

Referee. — C. D. Moore, Columbia, '75.

UNIVERSITY RACE. — New London. The race with Columbia was postponed to July 3, 1882, on account of the drowning of the coxswain of the Columbia crew. The hour at which it should be rowed was not settled. Finally, the Harvard crew, supposing the race had been abandoned, went out of training and left New London. The Columbia crew then rowed over the course, and the referee, R. C. Watson, Harvard, '69, declared Columbia the winner. As there was no contest, neither the names nor time of the Columbia crew are given.

CLASS REVIEW.

Although the College life of our class has already been treated in detail, it may not be undesirable to emphasize a few of the results achieved during its four years' course.

In Scholarship our class leaves a record of which it may well be proud. More than two-thirds of its members obtained over 67 per cent, and very nearly one-fifth between 80 and 90 per cent, for the four years; while during the Senior year, more than one-sixth obtained over 90 per cent, more than four-fifths over 67 per cent, and to nearly two-thirds Commencement Parts were assigned.

Ours is the first class to win the distinction of graduating two hundred men, and in addition to this, every member regularly connected with Eighty-three during the Senior year received his degree—an achievement without parallel, so far as your Secretary's knowledge extends, within the period covered by class records.

In Athletics our class has attained a success no less remarkable. Besides furnishing six men to the University Crew and five men to the University Eleven, the various class organizations have been most efficiently supported with satisfactory results. Our class crew was twice victorious in the Spring races and has never occupied the last position: our class nine, although it did not win the coveted Freshman game from Yale, gave proof of its abilities in a ten-inning contest by making but one error and more base hits than its opponents; while our class eleven, though unfortunate, was composed of excellent material.

But it is in General Athletics that the record of Eighty-three has been exceptionally brilliant. The prominence of the class in this department may be seen by comparing the figures of the following table, which shows the number of events won by each class in the Winter and Spring Athletic Meetings, during the four years of Eighty-three's College course:—

	1880	1881	1882	1883
Seniors	3	7	6	20
Juniors	8	4	18	3
Sophomores	6	13	9	3
Freshmen	7	4	2	7

THE FAREWELL OF THE COLLEGE PRESS.

"Eighty-three, for four years the glory of Harvard, wraps her mantle about her and lies down to pleasant dreams What was Fair Harvard when Eighty-three came here? Verily a land of darkness, as darkness itself, when the light was as darkness. The Harvard man was a very different being from his successor of to-day. There was no Gymnasium to teach him patience while the Freshman crew used the weights; there was no Sever, but only the dismal dungeons of University; there were no voluntary recitations to lure the confiding spirit to his destruction; prayers were at the unearthly hour of 7.45 Eighty-three has seen Harvard in her humiliation; she leaves her in her glory."—Crimson.

"It is with sincere feelings of regret that undergraduates bid farewell to Eighty-three. There must always be some sadness at the departure of a graduating class. Everyone knows that he is to part with many warm friends, and to be deprived of the assistance of many on whom he has been wont to rely. But the Class that leaves us this year deserves something more than the tribute given to every Senior class. Eighty-three's whole career has been worthy of admiration. The superior of most of its predecessors in scholarship, it has used wisely the many advantages offered by Harvard. In its connection with the College societies and with all other College institutions, Eighty-three has acted in the same progressive spirit. But higher praises than any previously mentioned can be bestowed upon the class. Its life has always been honorable. Gentlemanly in all its actions, high in all its impulses, it has done much to make College life nobler and purer. Its influence will still be felt after it has left us. We feel sure that this class will bring credit on the institution that sent it forth, in all its future action."—Advocate.

"Eighty-three has been a singularly fortunate Class. She has made a record in the field of athletics which will probably not be beaten for years to come. Her crew has been victorious in two class races and has never come in last; while at the same time, she has put excellent men in the University boat. In General Athletics and foot-ball, she has done more than her share, while her Freshman Nine, although unable to defeat Yale, made a good showing. In scholarship she compares favorably with any class Harvard has sent forth, the average being a very high one."—Herald.

TEMPORARY MEMBERS.

[An asterisk is used to denote deceased members.]

WILLIAM HENRY ALLEN, JR.

Has not been heard from, but is in business in Boston.

HOWARD EYRE ALTEMUS.

Since leaving College, has been connected with the Fireside Publishing Co., 20 North Seventh St., Philadelphia, of which establishment he is manager.

* BYRON ELLIS BAKER.

A sketch of his life will be published in the triennial, the gentleman upon whom I relied for information having neglected to furnish it.

FREDERICK GEORGE BEMIS.

Has not been heard from.

CHARLES WESLEY BIRTWELL.

Left the class in the middle of Senior year. For further information consult the Secretary of 1882.

CHARLES RENWICK BRECK.

Has not been heard from.

FRANK TAYLOR BROWN.

See '82' s Report.

JULIUS BUCHMAN.

"I entered business immediately after leaving College, to represent the interest of my brother-in-law in the firm of James Thompson & Co., Buckram and Twine Manufacturers, West Broadway,

New York. I have attended to all the office work here steadily ever since, with the exception of short trips to Boston and the West. This has constituted the main part of my life and doings since leaving Cambridge."

FRANK WALDO BURDETT.

Has not been heard from, but the Secretary believes he is living in Brookline, Mass.

WILLIAM CHALFANT.

For information consult the Secretary of 1882.

WALTER FREEMAN CHAPIN.

Has not been heard from.

GEORGE EDWARD COLE.

Has not been heard from.

HARRY PALMER COOLIDGE.

Has not been heard from, but is abroad.

HENRY CRAWFORD, JR.

The Secretary has heard nothing from him, but understands that he is in business in Chicago.

WILLIAM HERBERT CRAWFORD.

On leaving College, he entered the employ of Schoverling, Daly & Gales, Manufacturers of Firearms, Chambers St., New York, and is still connected with this firm.

CHARLES EDWIN DAVIS.

Has not been heard from.

EDWIN SLOAN DAVIS.

Has not been heard from.

WILLIAM ANDREWS DOLE.

Has not been heard from.

CHARLES HAMLIN DUNTON.

Neither the Secy of '82, of which class he was once a member, nor the Secy of '83, has been able to hear anything from him.

FABIUS EDWIN ELDER.

Has not been heard from.

DANIEL BUTLER FEARING.

Is in Mr. W. D. Morgan's office, the Great Western S. S. Co. For further information consult the Secretary of 1882.

EDWIN THAYER FEARING.

Is with A. L. Fearing & Co., agents of New Bedford Cordage Co. Boston. Address the Secretary of 1882 for further information.

EDWARD ASHLEY FERGUSON.

Was not heard from by the Secretary of 1882, to which class he formerly belonged, and the Secretary of 1883 has met with no better success.

HOWARD FROST.

"I still feel an interest in the Class of '83, although but a member for one year. Since leaving Cambridge I have been with Fuller & Delano, Architects, in Worcester, Mass."

RICHARD BUCKMINSTER FULLER.

"On leaving College, at Christmas of my Junior year, I went with bright prospects to the silver mines at Chihuahua, Mexico. Here, after a short time, I was attacked by typhoid fever, and as soon as possible, sent home. After regaining my health, I entered the Boston office of Howe & Goodwin, Calcutta Commission Merchants, 52 Kilby St., where I still am."

WALTER ROGERS FURNESS.

Has entered a broker's office in Philadelphia.

*FRANK HAMILTON HARVEY.

A sketch of his life was promised, and would have appeared here had the promise been fulfilled, but must now unfortunately be deferred. The Secretary, however, considers that a delay of two months and several fruitless attempts to obtain information from all the sources known to him, absolves him from further responsibility in the matter.

EVERETT WESLEY HATCH.

The son of Mr. J. W. Hatch, he was born in Abington, Mass., March 23, 1858, and died at his home, October 31, 1882. His parents were poor, and his early life was a hard struggle for education. He was prepared for College at the Boston Latin School, and entered Harvard with our class, in 1879, being enabled to pursue his studies through the kindness of a friend. He was a member of the Handel and Haydn Society, and belonged to the Methodist Church.

Although he was not strictly a scholarly man, and found it necessary to work incessantly in order to maintain his rank in the class, his energy and perseverance furnished a bright example to others more favored by circumstances. He was not widely known, owing to his retiring disposition, but he won the respect of all with whom he came in contact, as a man of high principle and one who fulfilled every obligation.

FRANCIS LORING HAYFORD.

The oldest son of William Bicknell and Laura Hayford, he was born in Bangor, Maine, May 9, 1860. He attended the schools of his native city until the Spring of 1877. Leaving the High School, in the fall of that year he entered Phillips Academy, Exeter, N. H., where he remained until Christmas of the year 1878, and in September, 1879, entered College with our class. His health failed in the Spring of 1880, and in the Autumn of the same year, after a trip, without benefit, through the woods of Northern Maine, he went to seek a drier atmosphere at Colorado Springs. He failed steadily, however, throughout the Winter, suffering with a lung trouble, and died there, April 17, 1881. In him the class lost a promising young life, and his many friends a loved and esteemed associate; while those who were not personally acquainted with him, paid to his character the tribute of respect.

THOMAS BERRY HIGGINS.

Has not been heard from.

HENRY REESE HOYT.

Took his degree with '82.

HARRY WALTER JONES.

Has not been heard from, but the Secretary believes he is living in Cambridgeport.

WOODBURY KANE.

Severed his connection with the class in the middle of Senior year. For further information address the Secretary of 1882.

CHARLES HAYDEN KIP.

Joined the Class of 1884.

STEPHEN STRICKLAND KIRBY.

"Since leaving College, have been reading law ; was admitted to practice in the several Courts of our County (Towanda, Pa.) on the 7th of May, 1883."

COURTNEY LANGDON.

Has been teaching modern languages at the Episcopal Academy, Cheavie, Conn.

PRESCOTT LAWRENCE.

Since leaving College has been living in Boston, making frequent journeys, however, to England. Consult the Secretary of 1882 for further information.

GEORGE HENRY LEATHERBEE.

For information address the Secretary of 1882.

CYRUS EDWIN LOTHROP.

Is in business in Detroit, Mich.

WILLIAM PRATT LYMAN.

Has joined the Scientific School.

ARTHUR FRED McARTHUR.

Has not been heard from.

JAMES FRANCIS MAHAN.

The Secretary has heard indirectly that he has entered a clothing store on Washington St., Boston.

FREDERICK WILLIAM MORTON.

“After completing with the class the work of the Freshman and Sophomore years, I left the Academical Department and entered the Divinity School. Here for two years I have pursued my studies with the intention of becoming a Unitarian clergyman. I expect to graduate from the Divinity School in 1884, and in the following year, if nothing happens to prevent, I shall finish the Academical course and graduate from the College proper.”

CHARLES FREDERICK NIRDLINGER.

Has not been heard from.

HUGH KINSLEY NORMAN.

Has been living in Boston and travelling. For further information consult the Secretary of 1882.

WILLIAM TAPPAN PEIRCE.

Left College at the close of the Sophomore year, and entered the Engineering School of Washington University, St. Louis, Mo., in the following Autumn. There he remained until April, 1883, when he joined a party of engineers employed in the construction of the Northern Pacific Railroad, in the engineering department of which he now is.

GEORGE WILLIAM PERKINS.

Entered the Class of 1882.

HENRY WILSON PERKINS.

Has not been heard from.

JOHN WILLIAM POTTER.

Is in business in Brooklyn, N. Y.

FREDERICK HENRY PRINCE.

Soon after leaving College entered the banking house of C. E. Fuller & Co., Boston. Address the Secretary of 1882 for further information.

CHARLES EDWIN RAND.

Has not been heard from.

WALLACE DEGROOT CECIL RICE.

Has not been heard from, but the Secretary believes he is living in Toledo, Ohio.

WILLIAM ARMSTRONG ROGERS.

Has not been heard from.

CHARLES ROBERTSON SAUNDERS.

Joined the Class of 1884.

EDWARD DAVID SCOTT.

Since leaving College has been teaching school at Michaux Ferry, Virginia. See '82's Report.

JOSEPH RUSSEL SHARP.

Has not been heard from.

FRANCIS RICKETSON SLOCUM.

Has not been heard from.

* EDGAR DWIGHT SMITH.

The son of Moses Smith, of Castile, N. Y., he was born July 12, 1858. His early life was passed chiefly at home, and he made but little effort at study until he was sixteen years of age. From this time on, however, he devoted the intervals of time which he could spare from his employment as a stone mason to preparation for College. He entered Harvard with our class, in September, 1879, and passed the Freshman year with us, but his short College life was brought to an untimely close by his early death, which took place at his home, October 15, 1880.

CHARLES INCHES STURGIS.

See '82's Report.

WILLIAM MONROE TISDALE.

Has not been heard from.

GEORGE HAINES TREADWELL.

Has not been heard from.

GUSTAVUS TUCKERMAN.

Took his degree with '82.

ANDREW GRAY WEEKS, JR.

Has entered the employ of Weeks & Potter, Wholesale and Retail Druggists, Washington St., Boston.

BENJAMIN WICKHAM WELLINGTON.

Joined the Class of 1884.

JOHN ARTHUR WELLINGTON.

Has not been heard from.

HORATIO HACKETT WELTON.

Has not been heard from.

HENRY ELVER WESTON.

WILLIAM HUTCHINSON WESTON.

Have not been heard from, but the Secretary believes they are living in Salem, Mass.

WILLIAM LUKE WYCHERLY WHITE.

The Secretary has heard nothing from White, and is not even sure of his address. Any information concerning him, or any of those "not heard from," is earnestly requested and will be gratefully received.

My circulars have been personally answered by seven out of sixty-nine temporary members. The remainder, therefore, of the information above given I have gleaned indirectly from the acquaintances, friends and parents of our former classmates, and from various other sources. Consequently, any confirmations or corrections—especially with regard to the list of addresses which follows—will be of the greatest assistance to me.

ADDRESSES.

ADDRESSES.

The Secretary should be notified at once of any change in address. Neglect of this duty will be productive of the greatest inconvenience both to yourselves and to him. A list of addresses will be distributed annually if warranted by a sufficient number of changes in the interval.
